

Nouns have articles and are preceded by a definite or indefinite article.

Der, gets ein

Das gets ein

Die gets eine.

Compound nouns are common in German.

Nacht – Hemd

Abend – Essen

Kinder – Garten

Lippen – Stift

Plurals : Most masculine or Neuter nouns form the plural by adding e or er. Plurals with an er ending always add an Umlaut if the vowel in the singular form is a, o or u.

Mann – Männer

Buch – Bücher

If a singular form of a noun ends in en, el or er there is no additional plural ending, but an Umlaut is added if the stem vowel is an a, o or u.

Der Apfel – Die Äpfel Das Zimmer - Die Zimme

Any noun can be replaced by a pronoun.

Maria ist nett - Sie is nett. Der Junge ist groß - Er ist Groß

.

The pronoun takes on the gender of the noun.

Er for masc. Sie for feminine, es for neuter.

The function of each noun is indicated by a case.

The nominative: Die Frau ist hübsch.

Der Mann is groß.

Subject pronouns are always in the nominative.

The nominative case is also used for nouns which follow a form of sein (to be), werden (to become) and bleiben (to stay)

Nominative articles.

Definite	- Indefinite	Plural
----------	--------------	--------

Der	- ein	Die
-----	-------	-----

Die	- eine	Die
-----	--------	-----

Das	- ein.	Die.
-----	--------	------

There is no pronoun if the noun is plural.

Accusative:

A noun that functions as a direct object is in the accusative.

A direct object receives the action of a verb directly and answers the question what? or whom?

Definite articles:

Der – den

Die – die

Das – das

Der Lehrer hat einen Brief.

Die Tür hat eine Klinge.

Das Mädchen hat ein Heft.

Indefinite articles:

Der - einen

Die - eine

Das - ein

Word order: In German the verb is always the second element in a sentence. To turn a statement into a Yes – No Question always make the verb the first element of the sentence.

Interrogative words are on the Weebly. – A powerpoint.

Present Tense can be used to talk about the future.

Common Adverbs for Time Expressions:

Morgen, Übermorgen, Vormittag, Mittag, Nachmittag, Abend, Nacht.

Use am with Morgen, Vormittag, Mittag, Nachmittag, Abend, Wochenende.

Also for days of the Week.

Use im for Months and Seasons.

The adjective nächste use always in the accusative, with time related nouns.